DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-68 are pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112, 2nd Paragraph

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

1. Claims 1-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The following reasons apply:

- a. The terms: "including", "containing" or "contain" render the above claims indefinite because they do not exclude the presence of other substituents that are not recited.
- b. The term "alkyl₁" is used to also mean 'alkenyl' and 'alkynyl' which is not acceptable in the art because the term "alkyl" suggests saturated carbon-carbon bonds only.
- c. Claims 14-17 lack antecedent basis because they recite variables R_x and R_y which are not in the specification.
- d. The term "stress-related disorder" is not clear as to which diseases it refers to. There appears to be no definition in the specification for said term.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112, 1st Paragraph

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 27, and 36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The specification does not define the term "stress-related disorder", and does not provide any bioassay to show the activity of the claimed compounds for such disorder. Note, said term includes non-psychological disorders such as diabetes, cardiovascular, myocardial infarct, etc. None of said disorders were tested for in the specification. Thus, given the complicated nature of each disorder, one skilled in the art will have to carry out undue experimentation to apply the claimed compounds to all disorders related to stress.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless —

- (c) the invention was described in—
(1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effect under this subsection of a national application published under section 122(b) only if the international application designating the United States was published under Article 21(2)(a) of such treaty in the English language; or

(2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that a patent shall not be deemed filed in the United States for the purposes of this subsection based on the filing of an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a).

3. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Murata et. al. (US 5,972,946). On column 29, Table 11 lists starting compounds # 22-30, which are embraced by the claimed formula with the following substituents:

- a. Ar is a substituted phenyl group;
- b. R_1 and R_2 are both alkyl groups -- note R_1 corresponds to the reference's R_6 while R_2 corresponds to the reference's R_5 .
- c. R_3 represents a halogen.

Thus, at the time of the invention, one skilled in the art would have known how to make the claimed compounds.

Claim Objections

4. Claims 39-68 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims. A search in the pertinent art area did not yield any reference teaching or suggesting species claimed in claims 39-68.
